RENEWED PETITION FOR REVIVAL OF AN APPLICATION FOR PATENT ABANDONED UNINTENTIONALLY UNDER 37 CFR 1.137(b)

Dear Sir:

The present communication is a renewed Petition under 37 C.F.R. 1.137 (b). The originally submitted Petition was dismissed due to lack of proper statement/showing of delay. I have firsthand a direct knowledge of the facts at issue, and have made inquiry into the below averments.

I arrived at Shumaker, a general practice firm, in February of 2008. The firm was trying to build up its Intellectual Property department, and many lawyers within the firm had been moving client patent work to Shumaker. The firm had been without a patent attorney for several months, and no docketing system was in place at the time. Many attorneys at the firm had entrusted files to the prior patent attorney, who, I believe, was the firm's first. Many of the files required attention, and additionally, within the next several months several firm attorneys transferred in files which they had been retaining in anticipation of the prior attorney's replacement (myself). We obtained power of attorney in the present application in June 2008. By October, I had determined that a total of three applications, including the present application, had gone abandoned for failure to respond to Office Actions. I filed the petitions for two of the applications, and unintentionally neglected to file the petition for the present application.

In about late April, we began a review of files in our possession (roughly 60 files) including the present application, in order to ensure that all were entered into our new docketing system. Upon reviewing the file corresponding to the present application (early May), we determined that, contrary to what we had previously thought, no petition had been filed in the present application. Upon reviewing all other files, and determining that no other applications had been abandoned, we submitted a petition to revive in June 2009. We respectfully request the granting of the present petition.

Respectfully submitted,

Dated: September 25, 2009
